

"We Are Still Here" Videos For World Mission Month

Here are three videos that you can use to help promote this year's celebration of World Mission Sunday (WMS) (October 18). These videos are being used worldwide by the Pontifical Mission Societies in multiple languages ~ a first-time global unifying phenomenon for WMS! (Click on each thumbnail below to view, and then download from there.)

Three suggestions for their use:

- Post on your social media sites, using hashtags #WeAreStillHere #WMS2020 #HereIAmSendMe
- Feature on your website.
- Include as part of digital presentations on mission during the month.

Video One: "Who Would Have Known..."

Video Two "#WeAreStillHere"

Video Three "Because We Are Missionaries"

WMS Resources

Three (Arch)Dioceses: News About WMM

Here is news from three (arch)dioceses about World Mission Month happenings:

- Philadelphia: Held a "Little Way of Giving Day" on October 1, as Mission Month began.
- St. Louis: Featuring resources from MISSIO.org on their website, as well as their monthly newsletter.
- Columbus: Planning World Mission Sunday Mass with their Bishop.

What's happening your (arch)diocese? Let us know.

Episode 2 of MISSIO Streaming Series Tonight

Tonight (at 7 PM EDT) our new streaming series, “How Mission Can Help Us Navigate Today’s Challenges,” looks at the question: "Does 'Resiliency' Provide an Adequate Response to the Pandemic?"

Here's what viewers are saying about Episode 1:

"A heartfelt thank you to the Pontifical Mission Societies for the first of what I hope will be many interesting discussions. Of particular note were Fr. Frank's tips on self-care/family care in this time of COVID-19 as well as Professor Timoney's reflections on how parishes and campus communities are handling outreach during the pandemic. Their thoughts were both timely and helpful. I'm looking forward to the next installment!"

"Thanks for trying to get us to think about what we are going through."

"Thank you so much. I believe with God we will overcome this pandemic."

“Little did you know how much I needed this program.”

MISSIO STREAMING SERIES

The National Office staff remains connected through technology for day-to-day activities, though not physically present in the office. We have been monitoring telephone messages, and emails during these days.

MISSIO Powered By The Pontifical Mission Societies 70 West 36th Street New York NY 10018 United States